Dedication

As this, our final production at Eastridge, is presented, we find its director once more hidden backstage. The class of 1963 would like to bring before the footlights the Pageant advisor, without whose help this curtain could not have risen. His enthusiasm and interest have helped make this record of our senior year worthwhile. And so it is with deep appreciation and recognition of his sincere devotion to the yearbook that we dedicate this book to Mr. Edwin Fleche.

Dedication

One can not think of drama without having Mr. Zapella come immediately to mind, for he is drama at Eastridge. With his love of the theater he has combined endless hours of dedicated work, and repeatedly staged productions of which we have been very proud. Mere thanks can not suffice for such unforgettable presentations as The Man Who Came to Dinner, The Diary of Anne Frank, and The Crucible. With these he has given us an understanding and appreciation of the theater. With a warm "Break a leg" we, the seniors, dedicate our Pageant also to Mr. Anthony Zapella.

Prologue

In the belief that "all the world's a stage," the dramas and comedies that have been these last four years of our school lives are presented. With the fervant hope it will have a long run, we, the Class of 1963, proudly raise the curtain on our original production, the PAGEANT.

In Memoriam

George Lieb

As we go on through life, one who will live forever in our memories is George Lieb. He excelled as a student, and his intense interest in the class and school was proven by his work as class President for our Freshmen and Sophomore years and as an active Student Government member. In his personal life, George enjoyed physics and flying and hoped to someday have his own plane. One of the funniest people at Eastridge, George was well-known and well-liked by everyone.

WE THE CLASS OF 1963 DEDICATE OUR SENIOR SECTION TO OUR FORMER CLASSMATES, GEORGE LIEB AND CHERYL MILNE.

Cheryl Milne

Our thoughts of George are not alone, however, for with them are our memories of another past classmate, Cheryl Milne. Often seen marching with the Lancerettes, her school spirit was further shown by her active participation at games and other school events. Quiet and sweet, Cheryl was a true friend to all who knew her.

VARIETY

In its book of publicity stills, press releases, and reviews the history of the Class of 1963 is told.

Filled with hopes and great expectations of its name up in lights, the Class left Ridgewood and came to the big city — Eastridge. Arriving in September of 1959, they came to learn and rehearse and dream of making the big time someday. After making the rounds of the theatres and getting some good advice from angels, Dr. Gordon and Mr. Lehr, the Class made its first efforts. One of the first members of the Class to draw good notices was Steve Gadd, acclaimed by the Oracle's critics for the big beat of his drums. As the Class increased in confidence and lost its stage fright and added polish to its acts, it decided it was time it got itself some agents. The agents chosen were George Lieb, whom we called the pres., and John Rector, the veep, and Anne Rhodes, who clipped our notices, and Bill Adams, who counted our pennies. We regretfully said good-bye to Bill as he left the city, but the others' contracts were renewed for another year.

Our second year brought greater opportunities. Early in the year, Kathie Latal and Joanne Locurcio landed roles that showed them off at their regal best as Eastridge's Sophomore royalty in 1960's Blue and White revue. November brought the Class to the stage door of the theatre where "The Man Who Came to Dinner" was being produced, and several members carried away scripts. Those happy people were Howie Schlottman, Linda Bader, Joanne Locurcio, and Gerry Calari. Working behind the scenes on this show were Jan Alessandra, Dale Foster, Clyde Washburn, and Joe Arena.

Feeling very brave, the Class brought "Wonderland by Night," its Sophomore ball, to Eastridge. Pam Garland named it with the sound of a trumpet solo in the background and hundreds of snowflakes were the props.

Springtime came and with it "Good News." Our dancers learned the varsity drag and everyone went around whistling "Just Imagine." Anne Rhodes, Willy Wilkinson, Sue Davies, and Joyce Strazz sang, Ted Anello danced, Bruce Austin and Steve provided the accompaniment and Gary Parks got the scenery painted.

Sadly, not everything was happiness for the Class. During the summer it lost two of its most promising and most beloved members — George Lieb and Cheryl Milne.

It was the third year of its life at Eastridge and the Class pile of clippings was growing. The new agents were Gerry Scott, Willy Wilkinson, Kathie Latal and Carol Gibson. October meant challenge and triumph. Putting on their thinking caps, the Class sailed through the PSAT's and SAT's. Despite the bad luck that Friday the 13th is supposed to bring, "The Diary of Anne Frank" opened and was magnificent. Helping to make it so were Rosanne Licciardi, Jim DeMarse, and Doug Justice. Jerry Lloy, Clyde Washburn, Tom Clegg, Gary Salt, and Carol Andrea handled the technical aspects of the productions.

'61's Blue and White Revue brought an award greater than an oscar to EHS — the tomahawk. The class members earned many honors for the troupe . . . Joyce Strazz and Gerry Scott took part in the Wide Horizon program, and John Rector was our Junior representative to the Rochester Association for the United Nations. Bobbie Palmisano and Pat Piotter were named the Oracle's favorite valentines at the Sweetheart Ball. Pat, Janine Knauf, Dan Doupe, and Bill Valenti were sent as delegates to the Syracuse University Citizenship Conference. Tom Butler walked off with the Harvard Book Award and the National Honor Society hung stars on twelve doors. These celebrities were: Joyce Strazz, John Dentinger, Kathie Latal, Kathy Rockwell, Pat Piotter, Tom Butler, Janine Knauf, Elaine Pierce, Sue Napier, Linda Bader, Nancy Salzar, and Anne Rhodes.

Howie Schlottman, Joyce Strazz, Merle Aman, Rosanne Licciardi, Lynn

Shuler, Jim DeMarse, Willy Wilkinson, Joanne Locurcio, and Karl McKusick claimed big parts in "Anything Goes." Tom and Clyde worked on this production, too. Not too long afterwards, the auditorium rang out with the music of "Girl Crazy." Howie, Anne, Joanne, Rosanne, Willy, Ted Anello, Kathie, Steve, and Gary Salt appeared on the stage again, and the stage crew included Dale Foster, Clyde, and Jerry Lioy. Carol Andrea added something very unusual to this musical — she supplied the Spanish translation for "Bidin' My Time."

In a festive, south seas mood, the Class took an excursion to the "Mistv Isles" in May and flowers were everywhere.

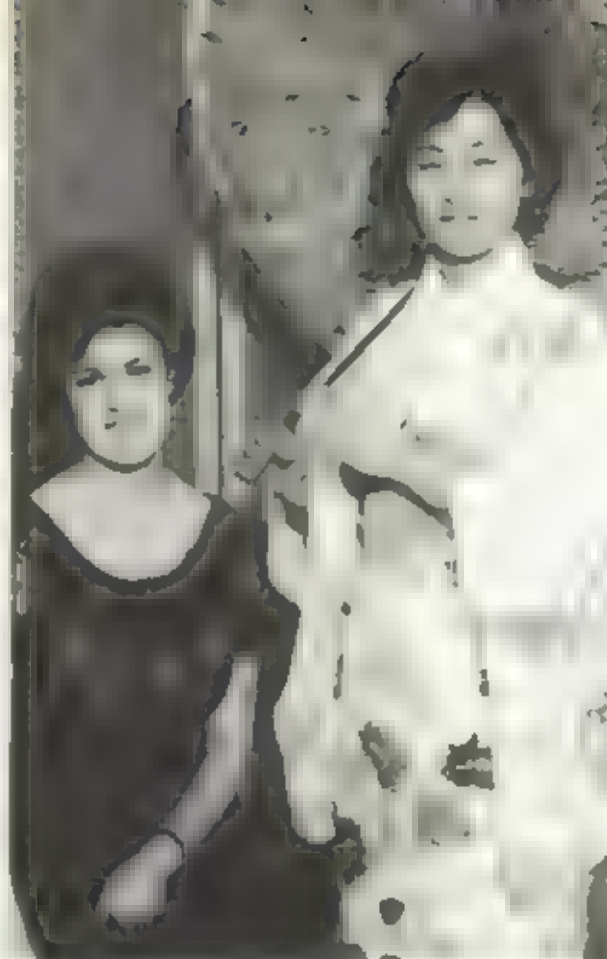

Phil Carr's talents with a pencil brought the Oracle its mascot, Sir Oracle.

June found Donna Hayden in Switzerland as EHS's American Field Service's exchange student for the summer. There she found a wonderful family and even tried mountain climbing.

In its fourth year along the Great White Way, the Class finally realized its biggest dream and got nothing but star billing. It had become the Senior Class! For such important people there had to be the best possible agents. They chose to represent them, Gerry Scott, Karl McKusick, Anne Rhodes, and Joanne Locurcio.

September brought two headliners to Eastridge — Ali Paya from Turkey and Kazuko Yokomizo from Japan. Ali is Karl McKusick's American Field Service brother and Kay is Anne Rhodes' sister.

Anne reigned as queen at this year's Blue-White Revue. EHS headgear for this event was Anne's crown and the highly valued war bonnet. Anne also was honored, along with Merle Aman, when she was chosen to sing for the New York All-State Sectionals. Dick Muhs was the Senior representative from Eastridge to the RAUN. Paul Moore and Steve Gadd were chosen for the All-State Band. It was a year of selling. The Senior Class peddled several thousand dollars worth of magazines and the National Honor Society sold candy and the bands sold just about everything imaginable.

Many talented Seniors tried for Scholarships in the National Merit competition. Tom Butler and Clyde Washburn were semi-finalists and Pat Piotter, Gerry Scott, Janine Knauf, Tom Costich, Joanne Locurcio, Doug Justice, Kathy Rockwell, Sue Napier and Elaine Pierce received certificates of commendation. In December two stars visiting from Mexico, Carmen Ramos and Dulce Maria Lara Escobar, came to stay with Joan Sweemer and Linda Bader. After graduation, Linda and Joan will return the visit.

Bill Valenti and Sally Wetzel received awards from the American Legion for outstanding leadership. The NHS hung even more stars on more doors in March. And also in March, the first issue of the Phoenix was published.

Being well-known celebrities and an accomplished group, the Senior Class decided to produce as well as star in a play. The script was chosen, try-outs held, parts learned, and rehearsals, rehearsals, and more rehearsals took place and then — "The Curious Savage."

And so, growing as it did from obscurity to renown, the Class now leaves Eastridge to move on to bigger but not better things.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Class of 1963, in order to bid adieu to the friends, teachers and routines we have known, yet not to be forgotten do place our footprints in the sidewalk at Grauman's by establishing this Last Will and Testament.

To Dr. Odell — We leave four elastic walls so that Eastridge can expand to accommodate its ever-increasing student body.

To Mr. Kilmer and Mr. Steehler — We leave the splintered remains of the "O.K. Corral".

To Dr. Gordon — We leave a desk clear of transcripts, receipts, catalogues, records and applications as we enter the lives she so carefully helped us plan.

To Mr. Lehr — We leave a halo for being so patient while we planned our proms and enjoyed being Seniors.

To the Office Secretaries — We leave the blessed relief of IBM schedules.

To the Cafeteria Staff — We leave the ten million calories they will feed to each student next year.

To the Custodians — We leave 1600 locker combinations to change.

To Mr. Crosby — We leave 310 magnificent term papers.

To Miss M. Smith — We leave a world where nothing is less beautiful than poetry or swans.

To Mrs. Waugh — We leave a few moments of silence during the morning announcements as a present from her homeroom.

To Mr. Zappella — We leave our thanks for awakening our imaginations to the delights of the theatre.

To Miss Webster — We leave the gratitude of the EHS students with a literary bent for originating the Phoenix.

To Mr. Chapman — We refuse to leave behind the vast quantities of affection and respect his students have for him.

To Mr. Morey — We leave the mystery of the now extinct Trig Regents.

To Mr. Petrilli, Mr. Willcox, Mr. Farnum, and Mr. Currie — We leave the anguished cry, "please — help me with the chemistry problems!"

To Mr. Euler — We leave pretty, new shades for his room to replace the black ones.

To Miss C. Smith — We leave all of NHS' unsold candy.

To Miss Cox — We leave a classroom of her own with plenty of maps that show the details needed for each day's discussion.

To the Foreign Language Department — We leave a fresh supply of little black knobs for the lab.

To the Homemaking Department — We leave the undying gratitude of the future husbands of the girls who learned to cook and sew here.

To the Business Department — We leave to supply the world with its most efficient secretaries and retailers.

To Mr. Wright — We leave the chuckles his cartoons have caused.

To Mr. Owens — We leave all the sable brushed cleaned and standing up in the jars the right way.

To Mr. Beck — We leave a grand piano.

To Mr. Castle and Mr. DeAngelo — We leave lots of money to get the bands to Canada and back.

To Mr. Fleche — We leave the Pride we felt when we understood what we read about Natives who Return, towards whom we had no Prejudice.

To Misses Bo, Graham, and D'Amato — We leave a class-full of ardent hockey-lovers.

To Bucky — We leave a space in the display case just waiting for the tomahawk to take its rightful place beside the war bonnet.

To Mr. Ware — We leave a future full of spaghetti dinners.

To Mr. Fitch — We leave a 6'8" freshman for the JV team.

To Mr. Daugherty — We leave a machine that picks up all the soggy towels after gym classes' showers.

To Mr. Masino — We leave a crate of oranges.

To the School Store — We leave plenty of uses for their profits.

To the Librarians — We leave a library-full of silent, industrious people all intent on research work.

To the Present Freshmen — We leave three more years at Eastridge with the hope that they will make the most of them.

To the Present Sophomores — We leave a bucket of luck to get them through the Biology and World History Regents.

To the Present Juniors — We leave the wish that their Senior year will be as memorable as ours has been.

To Mr. Bernard — We leave a private telephone all his very own.

A large group photograph of the 1911-1912 football team. The team is posed in several rows on a grassy field. The front row consists of players in white jerseys and dark pants, some kneeling and some standing. The back rows are composed of players and coaches, mostly in dark suits. The image is a black and white photograph with a slightly grainy texture.

[illegible]

A black and white photograph of a large group of people, likely a choir or a group of students, standing in rows in a room with large windows. They are dressed in formal attire, and some are holding books or papers.

L'Esprit de France

L'esprit de France encourages an interest in France and the French language in an informal atmosphere. With other language clubs a Christmas party or dinner is given to which the exchange students are invited and a record hop is held. An annual service project is also carried out.

Latin Club

The Eastridge Latin Club is part of the Junior Classical League. It promotes an appreciation of Roman life, history, Latin literature and the classics. The Roman Banquet and the Christmas party for the language clubs are annual activities.

Thank

You

The yearbook of the Class of '63 would not be complete without a word of thanks to our advisors Dr. Gordon and Mr. Lehr. Their guidance made our banquet, ball, and other activities a success, and their counsel on matters of college and other post graduate plans was indispensable. For these reasons we, the seniors, extend our warmest and most sincere thanks to Dr. Barbara Gordon and Mr. John Lehr.

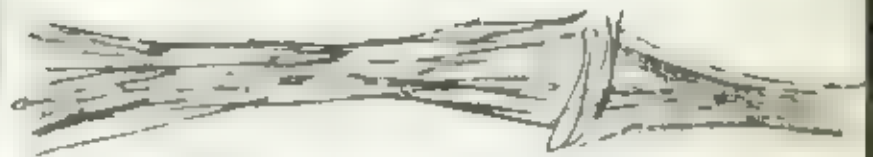

Kazuko Yokomizo

Opening the curtain on another scene, we find that the Far East has been brought to our stage in the form of one of our players, Kazuko Yokomizo. As the story unfolds, we hear of her first experience in America — a lost suitcase. Finding this, her next job was getting herself accustomed to our American way of life.

Overcoming her Oriental shyness, Kay had no trouble making friends, and conversation with her was always delightful even though many of the words had to be looked up in her ever-present English-Japanese dictionary. Living with the Warren Rhodes', Kazuko loved Eastridge life. She liked sports, and especially enjoyed attending basketball games. When words were too difficult for her to express, she beamed with her bright smile, and somehow got the message across.

The Senior Class will not forget its adopted member, and we hope Kay will never forget us.

Ali Paya

Affectionately greeted by "Hiva, Paya" Ali filled our hearts with Turkish laughter. His natural humor livened up many a class, and endeared him to all. His twist — with a Turkish touch — could be seen at every record hop, and his cries of "Come on, Eastridge!" joined those of the rest of the Lancers at the games. A sportsman himself, Ali was a member of the soccer and track teams. And to round out his activities, he was a member of the Cosmopolitan and Projectionists Clubs. He never fails to impress us with his beautiful command of English and he often speaks the language better than we do. He readily joined in class discussion with well thought out ideas that displayed his thorough knowledge of American affairs. A scholar without being stodgy, a comic without being silly — our All American boy from Turkey.

Feb. 16, 1963,

Dear friends of Eastridge,

I am writing to you from Rochester, Minnesota, where I am going to stay the rest of the school year, attending John Marshall High School. I spent the first half of the year at Eastridge. Eastridge was the first school that I knew as an American school. The impression was wonderful! The school building was so attractive that I could hardly believe that it was a high school. "High School" meant to me the place to study and to prepare for a college. Soon I found that Eastridge was not only the place to study subjects but also the place to enjoy ourselves by taking part in activities. My first experience with Eastridge activities was seeing the play, "Papa is All," which I enjoyed very much, even though I did not understand English at all. I could feel the zeal from the players and the audience.

There were games and dances which I had never tried before and which I tried first at the Eastridge gymnasium. I had a lot of fun, mostly because of warm-hearted friendship and partly because it was not necessary to speak good English! I clearly remember the assembly for us, the AFS students. I believe that was the fruit of the kindness of Dr. Adell and the friendship of Eastridge students. At every place in my calendar for the latter part of 1962, I see many kindnesses and much understanding. By the time I had the play course in English class, I found myself enjoying reading plays in English!

I would like to thank all the teachers and friends of Eastridge, who helped my English and who were very nice to me.

Affectionately,

Kazuko Yokomizo

Dear Eastidge Friends,

On September the 5th, in my very first day in Eastbridge, I soon realized the problem facing me: the corridors. For one week I did not know where I was going. Then came the fun of being in Eastbridge with its sports activities and social affairs - and the days full of homework...

I found myself surrounded by very good and sincere friends who wanted to make my stay a happy one. I was very pleased to see the importance given to the AI's program.

It was in Eastbridge that I got to know the American teenagers and the atmosphere in an American high school.

The assembly in which I saluted our Turkish flag and listened to our national anthem, for the first time after I left my country, will be a most unforgettable memory to me. The hospitality shown to a foreigner and the respect given to his country could not be more impressive.

I would like to thank all of you who gave me this opportunity to come to U.S.A and have a valuable year here.

Best wishes to all,

-Ali R. Paya

This year's varsity football team holds a record of three wins and five losses. The team placed sixth in the county's league of twelve teams. Tom M. Knight brought the team special honor when he was unanimously chosen for both the Democrat and Chronicle, and Tri-Union All-Star Teams. Eastridge was doubly honored that Pete Wanduch was also named an honorary member to these teams.

The Cross Country Team earned several honors this season. The team took third place in the Monroe County Meet and in the Section 5 Meet. Karl McKusick set a course record at Durand Eastman Park against Greece, was named to the All County Team, and finished first in the meet held at Alfred University. Gordie McKusick finished second in the Alfred Meet and also was named to the All County Team. Furthermore out of the 150 boys competing at Alfred, Eastridge claimed seven top positions: Doug Smith, 23rd; Glen Barber, 24th; Ron Magin, 51st; Jim Stoffel, 70th, and Jim Lathrop, 73rd.

Varsity Soccer

Despite their team's unimproved record over the years, the Varsity Soccer Team was still successful in the closing of last year. Joe Proszko was one of the most goals in his career and won a number of the C. C. A. A. County Team.

Varsity Swimming

Eastridge's well-known swim team worked up a total of 34 straight wins as of February 12, 1963. During the year, Dale Hamilton (100 yd. butterfly in 1:06.8), Ron Magin (100 yd. backstroke in 1:01.5), and Tom Baker (100 yd. freestyle in 4:44.9) set new school records. Greg Costich went unbeaten in diving competition and Randy Callin set a new diving record by accumulating 136 points.

The team was 1962 Monroe County Champ and placed third in the Section 5 Meet. All-County Swim Team members were Ron Magin, Art Wiley, Gary Clark, Tom Salt, and John Buckholtz. Eastridge can certainly be proud of its 42 member swimming team and of Coach Ware who has done such a fine job in coaching these boys on to victory.

One of Eastridge's most outstanding athletes is Ron Magin. He holds the school and county record for the 100 yd. backstroke (1:01.5) and has been sectional champ in this event for three years running. He also is on the school and county relay teams, which are the fastest in the area.

Varsity Wrestling

The Wrestling team made wrestling much more of a spectator sport this year than it has ever been before. This was done by first, substituting matches for the JV games before the basketball games, and second, by sponsoring the first Invitational Wrestling Meet to be held here at Eastedge. It is expected that this invitational meet will become a traditional event of Christmas vacation. Those schools invited were Webster, Wayne Central, and Medina. An outstanding member of this year's team was Ron Rauscher, a sophomore who had an 11-1 record in February.

Varsity Baseball

Eastridge's 1962 Varsity Baseball Team holds a record of five wins and eight losses. Being a new team, the boys had much to learn, but at present they are looking forward to a promising future, as much of their team will be back this year.

Water Show

The Marina Club, composed of thirty-nine girls, presented its second annual watershow "Stateside", in November '62. The theme was based upon a colorful tour of the United States - including such tourist attractions as Disneyland, Lincoln Center, Las Vegas, the Wild West, Alaska, Hawaii, Texas, Florida Everglades, Anywhere, the South, and finally Rochester. As a finale, the entire group swam in a formation of the U. S.

Eastridge Wind Ensemble at the N.Y.S. School Music Association Conference

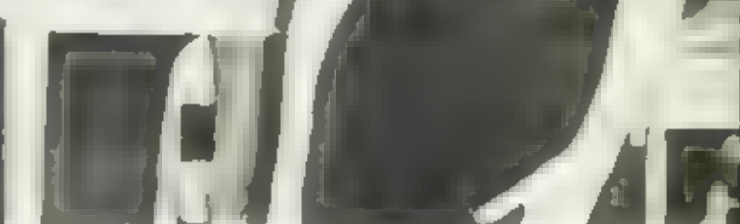

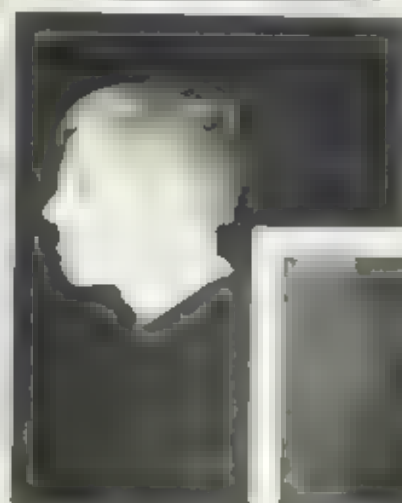

The Eastridge Wind Ensemble was invited to play at the N.Y.S. School Music Association's Annual Conference at the Concord Hotel, Monticello, New York. They played two pieces composed by their director,

Mr. Alfred Castle.

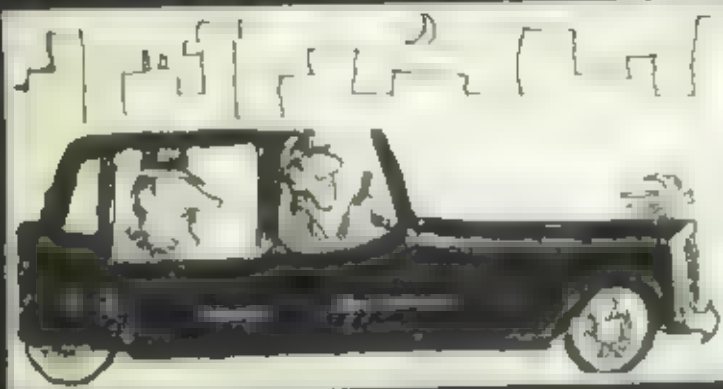

The two selections are, "March Along With Swing," and "The Waltz of the Goblins."

Dulce Maria Lara Escobar, whose name means "Sweet Mary", was one of the four students who visited Eastridge from Mexico City this winter. While she was here, she lived with Linda Bader. The Sweemer, Russo, and Lacey families now have Mexican "children" too: Carmen, Ishmael, and Edgar. This summer, Linda, Joan, Ron, and Eric will head "south of the border" to return the visit.
